DANVILLE, VA., June 18.—Richmond lost the first of the series of the bail gemes here to-day to the Tobacconfis by a score of 7 to 3. The game was wen by Danville bunching her hits in the eighth inning. Up to this time it looked as if the candy would go to the Lawmakers. Long, the twirler for the visitors, showed up in fairly good shape until the last part of the game, but was aughtered in the eighth inning, when the team seemed to get rattled. There was lack of system and harmony among the fielders. Howard, while allowing more hits than the Richmond pitcher, scattered his hits, and pulled himself out of several bad holes. Cuddy, for Richmond, carled of the batting honors for his nine, making three hits. Zurlage, the big first baseman for Danville, park-ed the horse-hide in the second inning, but no one was on the bases. Shaffer played a star game at first. Hadley, center fleuer for Danville, and Lucks, in right for the Lawmakers, made several sensational catches. The score:

PORTSMOUTH TAKES ONE.

After Four Successive Defeats She Succeeds in Winning.

with the mighty "Moser" in the box for Succeeds in Winning.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PORTSMOUTH, VA., June 18.—After four successive defeats, Portsmouth won from Roanoke this afternoon by a score of 5 to 2. It was anybody's game up to the seventh finning, when Edwards, who joined Portsmouth this morning, drove in two runs with a timely double. Schuman and Smith were the opposing sutchers and the Portsmouth man had the visitors. It was as pretty a game as one would care to witness. Until the eighth inning it seemed as if neither side would score. Then Lynchburg got in one run. It looked sufficiently large to win the game at that stage of it, but Moser had weakened for the first time since he has boen playing in the Virginia League. In Norfolk's half of the inning three runs were made. Hopkins was presented by Moser with a pass to first. Evans and Clark following were both safe on choices of fielders. Benbow followed with a hit, and before the side could be retired three runs had been made. Of the six hits made off Moser, Dingle got three of them, two singles and a double. McKevitt, with two singles, led in the hitting for Lynchburg. The two teams play a double-header here to-morrow. The score:

LYNCHBURG. eighth inning it seemed as if neither Schuman and Smith were the opposing pitchers, and the Portsmouth man had the better of the argument all 'rogad. Three of the five hits made by Roanoke came in the two first innings, and they notted two runs. The playing of Edwards, at first, and Fischman and Kain, at short and second, respectively, for Portsmouth, and McMahon, at short, for Roanoke, were the features. Schuman got two of the Truckers' eight hits. Although the weather was threatening, 1-200 fans saw the contest, and cheered the locals for every good play. Score: PORTSMOUTH.

SERIOUS BLOW TO AMERICAN TURF

Death of Sysonby Causes Gloom Among Racegoers Throughout Country.

HAD WON NEARLY $200,000

Owner Recently Refused to Sell Him at Any Price-Had Skin Disease.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NEW YORK, June 18,-The death o Bysonby, one of the greatest race horses

American turf.

James R. Keene, the owner of Sysonby, refused to discuss his financial loss last night, but was willing to extol qt length the great qualities of the horse. It is remembered, however, that, when an offer of $200,000 was made a few months are fer Sysonby Mr. Keene mersly reremembered, however, that, when an offer of $200,000 was made a few months ago for Sysonby, Mr. Keene merely replied that money would not buy him. For more than two months Sysonby had been alling from a disease of the skin, pronounced by the ablest veterinarians to be of virulent character. He had received the care and attention to which his worth entitled him. Surgeons were called on to save him, and were told that, if they succeeded, they might name their own fees, but from the first his decline was perceptible and unchecked. He suffered tortures, but realized that the utmost was being done to relieve him, and showed his bravery and affection by nozzling his owner and trainer every time either appeared in his box. That he understood what was said about him is fully believed by every employe in the Keene racing stables.

Appeals for Help.

During the last forty-eight hours of Sysonby's life his fever ran exceedingly high, and with his eyes he appealed for help, but not once did he seem to lose spirit or temper. A few minutes before he dropped dead he-heard his trainer, James Rowe, approaching, and whinnied his last greeting to him. Mr. Rowe last night was as inconsolable as was Mr. Keene over the loss of the horse that each was convinced was the greatest of the world's thoroughbreds.

What the loss of Bysonby means to the breeding interests of the country it is impossible to estimate, it seems almost incalculable. He had everything in his favor to make a name in the stud which would have placed him in the class with stockwell. Hermit and St. Simon, for he had all the attributes of the greatest race horses—marvelous speed, beautiful action, could carry any weight, could go any distance, had the best of dispositions and tempers, and was willing and even anxious at all times to do his best. Under restraint he was nervous, but with a free rein he needed no whip or spur to urge him to his utmost effort.

Sysonby was gentle as a child, as playful as a kitten and as affectionate as the most devoted bound that ever lived. He was as bold and strong as a lion and as intelligent as a human being. Speaking of him it is impossible to be just without the use of superlatives.

won Nearly $200,000.

Won Nearly $200,000.

Sysonby had brought to the American thoroughbred family a strain of royal blood from his sire, Melton (Imported), while from his dam, Optime, he inherited many of the qualities that served to make him great.

Some idea of the true value of Sysonby may be had when it is realized that he had faced a starter only fifteen times, and yet had earned nearly $200,000.

Had he returned to his racing form this year he must have been the greatest money-getter ever known on the turf. Only once in his career was he defeated. That once was by the queen of all fillies. Artful, and rew will contend that he would not have turned the tables had ho met his victor again after the Futurity which she won in 1905.

In the Belmont Handicap of last year Sysonby made his first appearance after he returned the could do no hetter.

In the Belmont Flandicap of that year Sysonby made his first appearance after his winter's rest. He could do no better than run a dead heat with the light-weighted Race King, and of his public performances, that was the least cred-itable.

It was while he was in training for the Carter Handicap of the present season

Carter Handicap of the present season that Sysonby began to all. At that time those about him could not tell what was his trouble, and there was little thought that his condition would become serious.

Was in Disgrace.

Was in Disgrace.

Bysonby was in disgrace the last Sunday in April, when he was visited in his box in Sheepshead Bay. He was so strapped that he could not swing his head at full liberty, and the visitor, knowing his good disposition, asked Mr. Rowe what was the cause.

"Sys," said Mr. Rowe, showing by his very tones the affection he had for his charge, "tell him you have been a bad boy."

Sysonby dropped his ears and had all the appearance of a child rebuked fo the appearance of a child taken a fault.

"See," added the trainer, "he knows he was bad. He was biting his fetlock where it was irritated. But "Bys" is a good fellow-speaking more friendly-and he will not do it again."

Immediately the intelligent horse raised to head relead un his ears, and made his head, pricked up his ears, and made an aftempt to rub his velvety nose against Mr. Rowe's cheek.

Not long after that the skin disease had spread all over Sysonby's coat.
